This study is an international survey covering recent national elections held worldwide. It is conducted by an independent team of scholars based in the United States, Australia, and Europe. People have different opinions about the quality of elections and in this survey we are interested in learning your views about how the US presidential election on 8 November 2016 was conducted in ${e://Field/State}.

The survey usually takes around 12 minutes to complete. Your answers are anonymous and all replies will be treated with the strictest confidence.

You are welcome to contact us at eip@hks.harvard.edu for any further information. You can read the relevant Participation Information Statement [LINK], which provides more information about this study.

Completing the survey is an indication that you have read and understand the Participation Information Statement. Thank you for your collaboration.
